TENTATIVE PLANS FOR COUNTY SHOW

General Committee Decides To Hold
Corn Exhibit In Court House
Last Week of January

DATE DEPENDS ON THE JUDGE

Will Concentrate On Corn And Include A Class Open To World As
Other Counties Have

A county corn show will be held at the court house in Rushville, probably the last week in January, and there will be a class open to the world it was decided at a meeting of the corn show committee Friday afternoon at the county agent's office. The dates for the show depend largely on when a competent judge can be obtained.

Other counties have been having open classes in their corn shows and the committee decided that Rush was just as good as any other county and that the farmers of the county were not afraid of outside competition.

Since it was found impossible to hold a county products show this year, due to the fact that a suitable place could not be found, the committee decided to concentrate on corn and eliminate the usual culinary exhibit. There has always been some dissatisfaction over the awards in this department, on account of the excellence of all of the entries, making the placing of the ribbons a very delicate task.

There will be a class for girls' club work, however, in order to give the Union Township Girls club an opportunity to display their work.

The general committee decided not to accept the invitation from Carthage to hold the show there, due to the inconvenience that it would cause farmers living in the southern part of the county. In view of the fact that Rushville is located in the center of the county, the committee was unanimous in the opinion that the show should take place in the county seat. The offer from Carthage, however, to provide the community building free of charge, was appreciated and the committee regretted that Carthage was not located so that it would be possible to accept the invitation.

The general committee which made the tentative plans for the show is composed of H. M. Nash of Union township, John Booth of Anderson township, R. E. Mansfield of this city, Mrs. Oscar Rees of Union township, Will Abercrombie, Will P. Jay and E. J. Knecht, all of this city.

Committee chairmen were appointed as follows: finance, Mr. Knecht; premium list, Newton Halterman; program, D. D. Ball.

HIT BY A MACHINE AND SERIOUSLY HURT

Jesse (Buck) Bailey Suffers Severe
Scalp Wound When Dragged
Several Feet By Automobile

DRIVER FAILS TO STOP

Jesse (Buck) Bailey of Circleville, a local cigar maker, was hit and dragged several feet by an automobile driven by an unidentified person at the south end of the cement bridge between the mill race and Flatrock river, on the road south of Rushville, Friday night, and seriously injured.

Mr. Bailey suffered a severe scalp wound and was unconscious most of the night. His condition seemed improved this morning and it was believed that he would recover.

Mr. Bailey was returning from his mother's home in Circleville to Rushville when the accident happened. He was struck by the automobile without warning and dragged the full length of the cement bridge. The car did not pass over his body. The driver of the machine did not stop.

Men employed in a garage near the bridge took the injured man to Dr. Frank H. Green's hospital where the scalp wound was dressed and he was removed to his home.

CLERK OF COURT IN YEARLY REPORT

Summary Of Business Done In Circuit Court In 1922 Is Compiled
By Loren Martin

186 CASES PENDING TRIAL

Criminal Docket Is Cut Short With
38 Left January 1—13 People
Adjudged Insane

The statistical report of Loren Martin, clerk of the Rush circuit court, has been completed for the year of 1922, and will be forwarded to the legislature bureau, as required by the Indiana statute.

The report of the clerk includes summaries of the court records, of which the clerk has charge, and some interesting things are found in the report made public today.

During the year, a total of 249 civil suits were filed, and on January 1 of this year, there were 186 cases pending on the docket. During the year a total of 269 cases were disposed of either by being tried, dismissed or venued.

Five of the civil suits placed on file during the year were venued to this county from other adjoining counties. On the other hand this county sent 9 cases to other counties for trial.

During the year there were 81 letters of administration taken out, 20 guardianships issued, 10 decrees of foreclosure entered, 7 sheriff sales ordered, and 13 people were adjudged to be of unsound mind.

The clerk issued 145 marriage licenses, and the court granted 23 divorces during the year, all but two of them being granted to the wife in the case.

Of the divorces granted, cruel treatment was in the lead for cause, as 9 of them were based on allegations of mistreatment. Six were granted for abandonment, 4 for failure to provide, one for adultery and the rest from various causes.

In the criminal court, there were 155 cases disposed of during the year, including 90 which were dismissed for various reasons. The total number filed is placed at 134.

No criminal case was venued either from, or to another county. The criminal docket is now rather thin, as only 38 cases are listed as pending.

Six defendants were acquitted of crimes by jury trials during the year and four prisoners, who were convicted of felonies were released on good behavior, and three persons released on probation.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR FARMERS' WEEK

Hundreds of Farmers Expected To Attend Short Course At Purdue
University January 8-12

CORN SHOW TO BE LARGE

State Potato Show To Be Held During Short Course Is Expected To Attract Many Entries

Everything is complete for the opening of the annual farmers' short course at Purdue University next week, Jan. 8, to 12, and hundreds of farmers from every section of the state will be in Lafayette for the week's intensive training. The work starts Monday afternoon and will continue until Friday night. Many Rush county farmers plan to attend.

Preliminary entries indicate the largest corn show in the history of the state, and additional prize money, totaling approximately $800 will be given this year. Five additional prizes have been provided for each of the five districts, making fifteen instead of ten placings. With Indiana's big record at the recent International Grain and Hay Show, the strongest state show ever held is expected.

The state potato show, which will also be held during the short course is expected to attract several hundred entries. The introduction of certified seed by Purdue men has worked wonders on the Hoosier potato crop and many of the new growers will compete for the $600 in prizes.

Annual meetings of the following state associations will be held during the week: Corn growers, live-stock breeders, dairymen, home economists, vegetable growers, and the following dairy and beef cattle breed associations, Holstein, Jersey, Guernsey, Ayrshire, Aberdeen-Angus and Hereford.

Daily tours will be conducted to the various farms about the university and a program worth while for every farmer would be found in this feature alone. Some of the most able speakers of the country will be on the program during the week. W. H. Settle, new president of the Indiana Farmers' Federation, will be one of the headliners the first day.

POSTOFFICE BUSY PLACE THIS WEEK

Occupied With Cashing or Trans-
feral of War Savings Stamps
Falling Due January 1

IF UNDER $10 ARE PAID HERE

The postoffice here is busy and has been a busy place for several days, arranging to cash or transfer the War Savings Stamps, which fell due on the first of the month.

Charles H. Brown, assistant postmaster, has had charge of the work, and has been compelled to work frequently at night in order to keep the records in shape. Every day a large number of checks are mailed out to the people of Rush county, who are cashing in the stamps.

Those which fell due January first were of the 1918 issue. Mr. Brown has been mailing checks to those who have surrendered the stamps, where the amount is under $10. In case the stamps were more than $10, they were sent to Indianapolis, and the money returned to the local postoffice to be mailed out from here.

Many of the people, wishing to continue with their savings, have instructed the local officials to issue them the new treasury bonds, which come in denominations as low as $5.00, and which will mature in five years. The $100 notes are now selling at $82.

Mr. Brown will make a report of the amount of money handled in the war savings stamps, when all of the 1918 issue has been cashed or converted.

MUCH DISCUSSION ON GASOLINE TAX

Included In One Of The Measures
Which Will Be Considered By
The Indiana Legislature

2 CENTS A GALLON PROPOSED

Believed Tax Bill Will Meet with Considerable Opposition and Doubt
Is Expressed if it is Passed

One of the measures which will be considered by the Indiana legislature which is meeting in biennial session beginning Thursday that is of interest to hundreds of people in Rushville and Rush county is that which would require the collection of a 2-cent tax on every gallon of gasoline that is sold in the state. The proposed gasoline tax has resulted in much discussion here and the majority of people seem to be strongly opposed to it.

Governor McCray and other state officers who are in favor of the proposed tax estimate that it would bring in about $3,000,000 a year. It is proposed that this revenue be turned over to the state highway commission for the improvement of public highways.

Those in favor of the law point out that people from other states motor over Indiana roads and pay nothing for their upkeep. Such a tax on gasoline, it is pointed out, would result in them paying a small amount, which would eventually be turned back into the highway fund. The wear and tear on Indiana highways by trucks is especially costly and it is said quite a large number of trucks from other states operate in Indiana. Such trucks do not pay any licence in Indiana and are with out any expense, except the purchase of gasoline while in Indiana. Supporters of the gasoline tax law contend that a revenue of 2 cents a gallon would be collected from out of state owners who operate their machines in Indiana.

Local distributors are opposed to difficulty they would encounter in collecting it. To employ a large number of collectors would be expensive and the salaries would represent a large part of the amount actually paid. It is said that one plan is under consideration whereby the state oil inspectors would collect this tax at a comparatively small cost. Distributors, however, say that if they were required to pay tax on gasoline at the time it is received a considerable amount of money would be tied up before the gasoline is sold.

One provision of the proposed law provides that no tax would be placed on gasoline used by farmers for the operation of tractors and stationary engines. It pointed out that there would be difficulty in determining just what gasoline would be tax free. If a distributor paid the tax upon a car at the time it was received and later sold some of it for use in tractors he would be entitled to a rebate and at once difficulty is seen in keeping an accurate record.

BUSINESS FIRMS MAKE INVENTORIES

Downtown Stores And Business
Houses Of Various Kinds Engaged In Listing Stock On Hand

SOME CHECK UP MONTHLY

Some Few Firms Take Inventories
At Times Other Than First Of
Year When More Convenient

The annual inventory season is on in Rushville.

Downtown stores and business houses of various kinds have been busily engaged in listing the stock on hand and at the same time exchanging Christmas presents and carrying on the usual business. Few if any, of the downtown places of business close while taking inventories.

The custom of taking inventory seems to be more prevalent in Rushville this year than ever before and firms of the smaller class are taking their inventories with just as much care and efficiency as the large business organizations of the city, according to those who sell inventory supplies.

A few firms in Rushville have their business so organized that no annual inventories are taken. Some operate on the perpetual inventory plan and others take short inventories each month instead of the usual long inventory at the end of the calendar year. Some few firms take inventory at times other than the first of the calendar year, listing their stock at a time convenient to their fiscal years.

Regardless of when or how inventories are taken, by far the great majority of firms in Rushville follow this plan in doing their business and the number, who are of the old school, the kind who run from year to year without actually knowing how much stock or material they have on hand, are coming to be more and more in the minority.

So popular is the inventory plan at the beginning of the new year that some professional men, physicians, are said to take inventories of their medicines on hand.

Hit The Ball

The festivities are over, and now another year of work is before us. Let's hit the ball, before it hits us.

It was a Merry Christmas, anyway, and a Happy New Year—as usual.

Prosperity comes to those who earnestly and diligently seek it—unless it is left by a rich dad who conveniently fades away.

It is greater prosperity that we want in this community, and in the state and nation.

Let's go after it, and stick until we get it, and hang onto it after it comes.

Talking is sometimes good, because it puts us in the right shape of mind.

But work is better, because it enables us to accomplish definite and desirable results.

Therefore, let's do both—talk and work—in 1923.

It's the sure road to prosperity.

And while we are engaged in beguiling prosperity, let's also endeavor to promote harmony.

If the doors are open harmony will always seek admittance. It doesn't like to wander around without a home—and its home is in the head and heart.

Harmony will do wonderful things for us in the run of a year.

And along with harmony comes good fellowship—its twin brother.

Good fellowship promotes harmony, and harmony promotes good fellowship, and when the two pull together it is difficult to resist or check them.

By all means let us have good fellowship, too.

But that isn't all.

Harmony and good fellowship promote kindness, and generosity, and thoughtfulness, and consideration, and a willingness to do for others as well as for self.

That, also, is good—very good. The fellow who lives for self alone doesn't really live. He only afflicts us with his presence for a time.

But when we perform a kindly act for others it leaves a warm glow in

Safety Sam's Sermonette

Now that all o' this holidays—hullabaloo has blown over an things are kinda settlin' down t' normal, with most of us slippin' back into th' old habits that we swore off on New Year's, it wouldn't be such a bad plan t' pause, so t' speak, an' size things up, with th' object o' tryin' t' live long enough at least t' pay somethin' on th' bills that are beginnin' to come in.

Fast as things change these days, theys some conditions exist-in' that we've had t' contend with so long that we oughta know how t' ease ourselves by 'em now, without sufferin' any worse damage than gettin' all splashed with mud or losin' a fender. We've got streets that we want t' walk across, an' it's a ten-to-one bet that we'll hafta step out from a'hind a machine standin' at th' curb an' that they'll be another machine comin' from our left at a speed of anyway two miles an hour; further, that th' driver'll be so busy lookin' fer a place t' park that he won't know of our presence till he looks back t' see if he run over somethin'. We've got tracks that cars an' trains still run over, thanks t' Hardin' prosperity, an' it's anyhow an even bet that one of 'em will appear in th' offing, any time we take a chance that it won't, as we fliv our way across its path. It's better'n an even bet that we'd oughta be in shape t' stop in that case, fer in all contests of right o' way between trains or even street cars an' autos, it's "heads I win an' tails you lose" fer th' gas buggy; an' that's one o' th' things besides explosions that makes gasoline still more deadly than th' stuff that killed about forty people Christmas Day!

the region of the heart—that heart that should never grow cold.

We must have all of these, too.

In fact, there are many things we might have and do in this community in 1923—things that work for improvement, and prosperity, and sociability.

In passing, we might suggest that 1923 will be better if made, instead of being marred.

Making a community is not difficult. It only requires intelligence and a will to accomplish.

Marring a community is even less difficult. In fact, it is not difficult at all. It only requires that spirit of indifference that is so often found where it should not be.

From The Provinces

Anyway, We Haven't That Kind (Houston Post)

It would be awful if everything were perfectly satisfactory to everybody. A world with nothing to kick and roar about would simply be unendurable.

Works Well With Charlie (Ohio State Journal)

We sometimes think Charles W. Morse's recipe for longevity must be to have an incurable disease and get a good lawyer to look after it for you.

We Treat 'Em Like a Stepchild (Pittsburg Gazette Times)

Chief Justice of the Ohio Supreme Court says the United States is a law-ridden nation. Why worry? We don't obey many of them.

They're Not Worth the Two Cents (Boston Transcript)

The Kaiser's Memoirs are selling at 10,000 marks in Berlin, which seems to be several thousand even of marks more than they are worth.

Still the Consuls Are Lucky (Detroit Free Press)

It is announced that the Soviet Government will order all American Consuls out of Siberia, and still they say they want American trade.

Aha! the Biter is Bitten (Philadelphia Record)

Keller started out to hunt Daugherty, and now they are hunting Keller.

Maybe It's Our Dry Navy (Pittsburg Dispatch)

South America reports a strange war fleet. Perhaps the Swiss navy.

A Pleasant Time Was Had (Pittsburg Dispatch)

Clemenceau came and saw and went back.

Congress Never Thought of That (Cleveland Commercial)

We have a shipping bill now—the bill we pay for not having any ships.

Whaddya Make of This? (Louisville Courier-Journal)

The saloon was "the poor man's club" before prohibition, and in these days of soft-drink stands club life attracts many who care nothing for pop.

Unlucky For Something (Pittsburg Dispatch)

Was there any significance in the fact that there were just 13 dry Governors at the White House?

It's a Hard Life, Fellers (Baltimore Sun)

History of man: 20 to 30 hard-ship; 30 to 40, hard-boiled; 50 to 70, hard arteries.

"Ladies First!" Is Their Motto (Nashville Tennessean)

Americans are ready to disarm, provided their wives will do it first.

The Hodge - Podge
By a Paragapher with a Soul

Sympathy often leads us astray.

Beware of the fellow who wants to sell you a get-rich-quick scheme.

A hunting coat doesn't make a hunter and a law book doesn't make a lawyer.

Keep your New Year's resolutions, and don't adopt some substitutions.

It's a waste of perfectly good money for a man with a talkative wife to buy a phonograph.

Keep the coal mines working and the home fires will do their own burning.

Don't envy the man who knows more than you do because he may know a lot that he would like to forget.

Some folks keep their thoughts on themselves for fear of losing them.

LOCALS MAINTAIN LEAD ALL THE WAY

High School Basket Men Defeat Cathedral High School in Indianapolis, 22 to 19

FIRST HALF WAS 13 TO 10

Rushville Exhibits Better Passing and Team Work and Stops Opponents' Rally

The Rushville high school basketball team, maintained a lead from the very start in the contest Friday night at Indianapolis and defeated the Cathedral high school by a three point margin, 22 to 19. The first half ended with the locals in the lead three points, 13 to 10.

Rushville displayed better passing and team work than in any recent game, and after getting started in the game last night, they managed to keep in the lead, although toward the end of the contest, the Cathedral team staged a rally, and for a time threatened to do damage.

Walker scored first by throwing a field goal from near the foul line. Kelly for Cathedral counted on a foul and Phillips also made the next point on a foul for Rushville.

The two teams were putting up a hard fought game, and appeared to be evenly matched, although the local aggregation outplayed them in passing the ball. Both teams missed many shots at the basket. Newbold for the locals got a short shot from the side, and two more points were counted for Rushville, putting the score 5 to 1.

Royce for Cathedral made his team's first field goal from a long shot, and soon Hilligoss matched the goal with one from under the basket, putting the count 7 to 3, with Rushville in the lead.

The next scoring was a foul goal by Cathedral, but Walker again counted from the field for Rushville, and the local team was still in the front, 9 to 4, giving the appearance that the locals were going to walk away from their opponents.

Cathedral, however, took a spurt at this turn in the contest, and they counted two field goals, which gave them great hope, boosting their count to 8, with Rushville at 9.

Phillips then stood out for the locals, and made good two chances on fouls, and soon afterwards he made a field goal on a toss-in from the side line, making the count 13 to 8. Before the half ended, Kelly again scored for the Cathedral team, making the score 13 to 10 at the halfway mark.

The locals started off fast in the last period, and the score began to mount, and at the end of the first ten minutes of play the score stood 119 to 11, with Cathedral trailing.

The Indianapolis team made several changes in their line-up at this time, including O'Connor, who went in at center, and who was spoken of highly in an Indianapolis paper, as returning to school and demonstrating what he could do with long shots. This ace soon shot in a couple of goals from the center and when only three minutes remained, the score stood 20 to 19, and the locals began to stall for time.

The stalling game worked good, although Cathedral got possession of the ball once, and missed an open shot. Just before the whistle Phillips broke through the center for a field goal, and he was given a chance at a foul when the whistle blew, but missed, and the locals won the contest, 22 to 19.

The game was played in the Manual Training high school gymnasium, and a good sized crowd was present. Good sportsmanship was displayed throughout the game.

The line-up and summary:

Rushville 22 Cathedral 19

Hilligoss F. Kelly

AMUSEMENTS

The mystery of the Romanoff diamonds, that wonderful collection of precious gems owned by the late Czar of Russia, has never been satisfactorily solved, but every now and then they turn up in the news. Recently a cable dispatch from Belgium announced that the custom authorities had seized a famous emerald, surrounded by twenty diamonds, which formerly belonged to the great Romanoff collection. It is on a similar instance of attempted smuggling into America of the Romanoff diamonds that Jack Boyle founded his famous "Boston Blackie" story, "The Face in the Fog."

The disappearance of the Grand Duchess Tatiana, youngest and favorite daughter of the late Czar, is also another mystery that has never been solved. Accounts agree that she did not submit tamely to the fate of the rest of the royal family, but made her escape in disguise of a peasant girl. Some declare that she was overtaken and murdered by the "Reds," while others insist that she got away, and there was a rumor that she reached the United States in safety, and has since lived here incognito.

Mr. Boyle's ingenious solution of this twin mystery make the fate of the last of the Romanoffs and the crown jewels which were the last relic of royalty rest upon the skill and cleverness of the reformed American crook "Blackie" Dawson.

Miss Joy Marshall, former star of "Irene" and her Society Seven band, will be the attraction at the Princess Monday and Tuesday, in addition to the regular picture program.

HUSTON STILL HALF OWNER OF YANKEES

Recently Announced That He Had Sold His Half Of The Team To Colonel Jacob Ruppert

SUDDEN CHANGE IS MYSTERY

By JACK N. V. SCHOLZ
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, Jan. 6.—Col Huston is still half owner of the Yankees. After jolting the baseball world with the recent announcement that he had sold his half of the team to Colonel Jacob Ruppert, he exploded an even greater bomb with the surprising statement that he was still very much in the running and going strong.

The reason for this sudden reversal of difficulties is more or less cloaked in mystery. Huston admits that after the first deal had been gone over, certain points rose on points Ruppert was unable to agree on and as they could arrive at no satisfactory arrangement, they both decided the best thing for all concerned would be for Huston to take off his coat and stay a while longer. And now that he is still on the inside looking out, Huston admits that it's a right comfortable feeling.

Huston denied that his intention to remain in baseball had been influenced in any way by Ban Johnson or any of the latter's friends, declaring he would not stay in the game merely for the privilege of fighting with Johnson.

Chicago—Outfielder Turner Barber, of the Cubs will wear a Brooklyn uniform next year. He was released in exchange for Outfielder Hood who will report to Los Angeles as part of the deal which gave the Cubs Pitcher Damovich.

100 WAYS To Make Money

By BILLY WINNER

If I Could Make Keys—

I LOST my door key one time and had to perform the second-story act. Worst of it was, I didn't know where to get a new key made. Come to find out, after a good deal of worry, there was a man in my neighborhood who made keys. But I didn't know he was there when I wanted a key made.

Now if I could make keys I would see that people knew about it. Thousands of keys are lost during a year, and I would make money by supplying new ones for some of them.

I would insert a Want Ad in The Daily Republican saying that I made keys. When a person lost a key he then would come to me for a new one.

PRINCE IS ENGAGED TO LADY ELIZABETH

Daily News Describes Prince Of Wales' Choice As Daughter Of One Of Oldest Peers of Scotland

FRIEND OF PRINCESS MARY

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
London, Jan. 6.—All the British empire are thrilled with the report today that the Prince of Wales' engagement to Lady Elizabeth Dowes-Lyon, daughter of a Scotch nobleman, will be announced this spring. The Daily News, which two days ago stated that the Prince would marry an Italian princess, apparently succeeded in evoking not only an official denial but an authoritative tip on the real choice for future queen. Today the News describes the prince's choice as a young Scottish noble woman, daughter of one of the oldest peers of Scotland, a very close friend of Princess Mary, a popular society girl and one who has been constantly with the Princess. This fits Lady Elizabeth to a T. To make its point plainer, the News describes the ancestral estates of the Earl, her father. Claims Castle, scene of the murder of King Duncan in "MacBeth" is the county seat of the Earl of Strathmore and Queen Mary, Princess, Mary and the Duke of York were shown about the famous ghost ridden halls by Lady Elizabeth when they visited there in the fall of 1921. The News carries a character sketch of Lady Elizabeth in a column adjoining its editorial on the subject.

The prospective bride is 22, the prince 28. She is a sports woman who rides and hunts. Extremely popular in court society Lady Elizabeth was one of the bridesmaids at Princess Mary's wedding. At that time her engagement to the prince was rumored. Later she was reported engaged to the Duke of York, the Prince's brother.

Dorothy Tells Her Story to Sinclair

CHAPTER VII

I said no more, but hastened down stairs to his bidding.

I found the lower hall partly lighted, but none in the rooms.

Entering the library, I lit the gas as Sinclair had requested. Then I tried the conservatory door. It was unlocked. I slid quickly out and moved down the hall to where the light of the one burning jet failed to penetrate. "I will watch from here," thought I.

But before I had turned on my steps more than half a dozen times, the single but brilliant ray coming from some half-open door in the rear caught my eye, and I had the curiosity to step back and see if any one was sharing my watch. In doing so I came upon the little spiral staircase which, earlier in the evening, Sinclair had heard creak under some unknown footstep. Had this footstep been Dorothy's and if so, what had brought her into the remote portion of the house? Fear? Anguish? Remorse?

Proceeding further, I stood amazed at my own forgetfulness. The light which had attracted my attention came from the room devoted to the display of Miss Murray's wedding-gifts. This I should have known instantly, having had a hand in their arrangement. But all my faculties were dulled that night, save such as responded to dread and horror. Before going back I paused to look at the detective whose business it was to guard the room. He was sitting very quietly at his post, and if he saw me he did not look up. Strange that I had forgotten this man when keeping my own vigil above. I doubted if Sinclair had remembered him either. Yet he must have been unconsciously sharing our watch from start to finish; must even have heard the cry as only a waking man could hear it. Should I ask him if this was so? No. Perhaps I had not the courage to hear his answer.

Shortly after my return into the main hall heard steps on the grand staircase. Looking up, I saw the two girls descending, followed by Sinclair.

As they stepped within the rays of the solitary gas-jet already mentioned, I cast one quick look into Gilbertine's face, then a long one into Dorothy's. I could read neither. While Gilbertine advanced bravely, Dorothy's steps lagged, and at the point where she should have turned into the library, she whirled sharply about and made as if she would fly back up stairs.

But one stare from Gilbertine, one word from Sinclair, recalled her to herself and she passed in and the door closed upon the three. I was left to prevent possible intrusion.

According to Sinclair's description, the interview proceeded thus:

As soon as the door had closed upon them, and before either of the girls had a chance to speak, he remarked to Gilbertine:

"I have brought you here because I wish to express to you, in the presence of your cousin, my sympathy for the bereavement which in an instant has robbed you both of a lifelong guardian. I also wish to say in the light of this sad event, that I am ready to postpone the ceremony which I hoped would unite our lives today. Your wish shall be my wish, Gilbertine; though I would suggest that possibly you never more needed the sympathy and protection which only a husband can give than you do today."

"What do you say, Gilbertine?" he asked earnestly.

"Nothing. I have not thought—it is a question for others to decide—others who know what is right better than I. I appreciate your consideration," she suddenly burst out—"and should be glad to tell you at this moment what to expect; but—give me a little time—let me see you later—in the morning. Mr. Sinclair, after we are all somewhat rested and when I can see you quite alone."

Dorothy rose.

"Shall I go?" she asked.

Sinclair with quiet protest touched her on the shoulder. Quietly she sank back into her seat.

I want to say a half-dozen words to you Miss Camerden. Gilbertine will pardon us; it is about matters which must be settled tonight. Mrs. Armstrong has instructed me to question you, as the one best acquainted with Mrs. Lansing's affairs and general tastes. We will not trouble Gilbertine. She has her own decisions to reach. Dear, will you let me make you comfortable in the conservatory while I talk for five minutes with Dorothy?"

He said she met this question with a look so blank and uncomprehending that he just lifted her and carried her in among the palms.

"I must speak to Dorothy," he pleaded, placing her in a chair.

Then he crossed back to the library and shut the conservatory door behind him.

When Sinclair reentered the library, he found Dorothy standing with her hand on the knob of the door leading into the hall. Her head was bent and thoughtful. Sinclair gave her no further opportunity for hesitation. Advancing rapidly, he laid his hand quietly on hers, and quietly remarked:

"I must ask you to stay and hear what I have to say. I wished to spare Gilbertine; would that I could spare you. But circumstances forbid. You know and I know that your aunt did not die of apoplexy."

She gave a violent start and her lips parted.

"You know!" she echoed, trembling and pallid, her hand flying instinctively to her hair.

"Yes; you need not feel about for the little box. I took it from its hiding place when I laid you fainting on the bed. Here it is."

He drew it from his pocket and showed it to her. She hardly glanced at it; her eyes were fixed in terror on his face and her lips seemed to be trying in vain to formulate some inquiry.

He tried to be merciful.

"I missed it many hours ago, from the shelf yonder where you all saw me place it. Had I known that you had taken it, I would have repeated to you how deadly were the contents and how dangerous it was to handle the vial or to let others handle it, much less to put it to the lips."

"Have you looked in that little box since you took it from my hair?" she asked.

"Yes."

"Then you know it to be empty?" For answer he pressed the spring, and the little lid flew open.

"It is not empty now, you see."

Then more slowly and with infinite meaning, "But the little flask is."

"Where was this vial found?" she demanded.

"In the bed with the old lady. I saw it there myself. Mr. Worthington was with me. Nobody else knows anything about it. I wished to give you an opportunity to explain. I begin to think you can—but how. God only knows. The box was hidden in your hair from early evening. I saw your hand continually fluttering toward it all the time we were dancing in the parlor."

She did not lose an iota of her dignity or pride.

"You are right," she said. "I put it there as soon as I took it from the cabinet. I could think of no safer hiding place. Yes, I took it," she acknowledged as she saw the flush rise to his cheek. "I took it; but with no worse motive than the dishonest one of having for my own an object which bewitched me; I was hardly myself when I snatched it from the shelf and thrust it into my hair."

He started at her in amazement, her confession and her attitude so completely contradicted each other.

"But I had nothing to do with the vial," she went on. And with this declaration her whole manner, even her voice changed. "This I think it right to make plain to you. I supposed the vial to be in the box when I took it, but when I got to my room and had an opportunity to examine the deadly trinket, I found it empty, just as you found it when you took it from my hair. Some one had taken the vial out before my hand had ever touched the box."

Bright Spots in News

New York.—Sliding down a coal chute, Jonny Ashby was buried beneath a ton of soft coal. He was rescued without loss of a lump.

Atlantic City.—S. Cameron Hinkle, attorney, won his client's case having to pay alimony by citing feelingly instances of his own divorce proceedings, decided in his favor.

New York.—Barred from the United States by the immigrant quota law, Vram Ovaniesov, Armenian sculptor, carved a remarkable statue from snow at Ellis Island and was admitted exempt.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches, get busy with good old Musterole.

Musterole is a counter-irritant that relieves congestion (which is what a cold really is) and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. First you will feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness. 35c and 65c, in jars and tubes. Better than a mustard plaster

Course in Salesmanship FREE!

There is a man in this county to whom we are going to give an exceptional opportunity to make money.

We want a man who feels that he has the qualifications that make a successful salesman. To this man we are ready to grant the exclusive sales rights for the county for our nationally advertised Vacuette Non-Electric Suction Cleaner. To prepare him to make the best success of this business, we will also give him, absolutely free, a complete Correspondence Course in Salesmanship prepared by sales authorities.

We want to hear not only from experienced salesmen but from ambitious men without experience. The man who secures the appointment can make a steady, permanent income—the usual range being from $150 to $400 per month—depending upon the time and effort put in.

The Vacuette is sold direct to the housewife through house to house solicitation, and its merits and our advertising in the Saturday Evening Post, Ladies' Home Journal, Literary Digest and other leading publications have created a demand which makes it one of the easiest articles on the market to sell. This is a real chance for a man who is not afraid to put in hard work for good pay and who can make a small investment.

Write, giving references, experience, financial status, etc. Arrangements will be made with the first applicant proving satisfactory to us. THE SCOTT & FETZER COMPANY, West 114th Street and Locust Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

TO DETERMINE WHAT HAS BECOME OF MONEY

Between $3,500 And $5,000 In War
Chest Community Fund Of Brazil
Never Accounted For

LEGION TO INVESTIGATE

Brazil, Ind., Jan. 6.—Brazil post No. 2, American Legion has inaugurated an investigation to determine what has become of a sum of money estimated at between $3,500 and $5,000 in the War Chest Community fund which it is claimed has never been accounted for.

The courts have held several cases that all funds left in War Chest community treasuries belong to the American Legion and in many instances the money has been paid over.

In Clay county nothing has been heard of this money since the war suddenly closed Nov. 11, 1918. The last drive for war relief funds was made in 1918 and in October 1918, $34,000 which had been raised by the county by taxation was paid over to the various charities. The sum turned over to the War Chest Community fund is said to have been between $3,500 and $5,000. No one appears to know exactly how much money there was in this fund or what has become of it. Whoever had charge of the fund has failed to make any report of it, but the American Legion has determined to ferret out the whereabouts of the money and demand at least an explanation from the party responsible for sequestering it.

"PAY AS YOU ENTER"

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 6.—A "pay as you enter" system has been adopted in regard to divorce suits in Vanderburg county courts.

Because of the large number of cases that are dismissed before coming to trial the court has ordered that all applications for divorce be accompanied by a three dollar fee to pay costs.

TENTATIVE PLANS FOR COUNTY SHOW

General Committee Decides To Hold
Corn Exhibit In Court House
Last Week of January

DATE DEPENDS ON THE JUDGE

Will Concentrate On Corn And Include A Class Open To World As
Other Counties Have

A county corn show will be held at the court house in Rushville, probably the last week in January, and there will be a class open to the world it was decided at a meeting of the corn show committee Friday afternoon at the county agent's office. The dates for the show depend largely on when a competent judge can be obtained.

Other counties have been having open classes in their corn shows and the committee decided that Rush was just as good as any other county and that the farmers of the county were not afraid of outside competition.

Since it was found impossible to hold a county products show this year, due to the fact that a suitable place could not be found, the committee decided to concentrate on corn and eliminate the usual culinary exhibit. There has always been some dissatisfaction over the awards in this department, on account of the excellence of all of the entries, making the placing of the ribbons a very delicate task.

There will be a class for girls' club work, however, in order to give the Union Township Girls club an opportunity to display their work.

The general committee decided not to accept the invitation from Carthage to hold the show there, due to the inconvenience that it would cause farmers living in the southern part of the county. In view of the fact that Rushville is located in the center of the county, the committee was unanimous in the opinion that the show should take place in the county seat. The offer from Carthage, however, to provide the community building free of charge, was appreciated and the committee regretted that Carthage was not located so that it would be possible to accept the invitation.

The general committee which made the tentative plans for the show is composed of H. M. Nash of Union township, John Booth of Anderson township, R. E. Mansfield of this city, Mrs. Oscar Rees of Union township, Will Abernethy, Will P. Jay and E. J. Knecht, all of this city.

Committee chairmen were appointed as follows: finance, Mr. Knecht; premium list, Newton Halterman; program, D. D. Ball.

HIT BY A MACHINE AND SERIOUSLY HURT

Jesse (Buck) Bailey Suffers Severe
Scalp Wound When Dragged
Several Feet By Automobile

DRIVER FAILS TO STOP

Jesse (Buck) Bailey of Circleville, a local cigar maker, was hit and dragged several feet by an automobile driven by an unidentified person at the south end of the cement bridge between the mill race and Flatrock river, on the road south of Rushville, Friday night, and seriously injured.

Mr. Bailey suffered a severe scalp wound and was unconscious most of the night. His condition seemed improved this morning and it was believed that he would recover.

Mr. Bailey was returning from his mother's home in Circleville to Rushville when the accident happened. He was struck by the automobile without warning and dragged the full length of the cement bridge. The car did not pass over his body. The driver of the machine did not stop.

Men employed in a garage near the bridge took the injured man to Dr. Frank H. Green's hospital where the scalp wound was dressed and he was removed to his home.

CLERK OF COURT IN YEARLY REPORT

Summary Of Business Done In Circuit Court In 1922, Is Compiled
By Loren Martin

186 CASES PENDING TRIAL

Criminal Docket Is Cut Short With
38 Left January 1—13 People
Adjudged Insane

The statistical report of Loren Martin, clerk of the Rush circuit court, has been completed for the year of 1922, and will be forwarded to the legislature bureau, as required by the Indiana statute.

The report of the clerk includes summaries of the court records, of which the clerk has charge, and some interesting things are found in the report made public today.

During the year, a total of 249 civil suits were filed, and on January 1 of this year there were 186 cases pending on the docket. During the year a total of 269 cases were disposed of either by being tried, dismissed or venued.

Five of the civil suits placed on file during the year were venued to this county from other adjoining counties. On the other hand this county sent 9 cases to other counties for trial.

During the year there were 81 letters of administration taken out, 20 guardianships issued, 10 decrees of foreclosure entered, 7 sheriff sales ordered, and 13 people were adjudged to be of unsound mind.

The clerk issued 145 marriage licenses, and the court granted 23 divorces during the year, all but two of them being granted to the wife in the case.

Of the divorces granted, cruel treatment was in the lead for cause, as 9 of them were based on allegations of mistreatment. Six were granted for abandonment, 4 for failure to provide, one for adultery and the rest from various causes.

In the criminal court, there were 155 cases disposed of during the year, including 90 which were dismissed for various reasons. The total number filed is placed at 134.

No criminal case was venued either from, or to another county. The criminal docket is now rather thin, as only 38 cases are listed as pending.

Six defendants were acquitted of crimes by jury trials during the year and four prisoners, who were convicted of felonies were released on good behavior, and three persons released on probation.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR FARMERS' WEEK

Hundreds of Farmers Expected To
Attend Short Course At Purdue
University January 8-12

CORN SHOW TO BE LARGE

State Potato Show To Be Held During Short Course Is Expected To Attract Many Entries

Everything is complete for the opening of the annual farmers' short course at Purdue University next week, Jan. 8 to 12, and hundreds of farmers from every section of the state will be in Lafayette for the week's intensive training. The work starts Monday, afternoon and will continue until Friday night. Many Rush county farmers plan to attend.

Preliminary entries indicate the largest corn show in the history of the state, and additional prize money, totaling approximately $500 will be given this year. Five additional prizes have been provided for each of the five districts, making fifteen instead of ten placings. With Indiana's big record at the recent International Grain and Hay Show, the strongest state show ever held is expected.

The state potato show, which will also be held during the short course is expected to attract several hundred entries. The introduction of certified seed by Purdue men has worked wonders on the Hoosier potato crop and many of the new growers will compete for the $600 in prizes.

Annual meetings of the following state associations will be held during the week: Corn growers, live-stock breeders, dairymen, home economists, vegetable growers, and the following dairy and beef cattle breed associations, Holstein, Jersey, Guernsey, Ayrshire, Aberdeen-Angus and Hereford.

Daily tours will be conducted to the various farms about the university and a program worth while for every farmer would be found in this feature alone. Some of the most able speakers of the country will be on the program during the week. W. H. Settle, new president of the Indiana Farmers' Federation, will be one of the headliners the first day.

POSTOFFICE BUSY PLACE THIS WEEK

Occupied With Cashing or Transferring of War Savings Stamps
Falling Due January 1

IF UNDER $10 ARE PAID HERE

The postoffice here is busy and has been a busy place for several days, arranging to cash or transfer the War Savings Stamps, which fell due on the first of the month.

Charles H. Brown, assistant postmaster, has had charge of the work, and has been compelled to work frequently at night in order to keep the records in shape. Every day a large number of checks are mailed out to the people of Rush county, who are cashing in the stamps.

Those which fell due January first were of the 1918 issue. Mr. Brown has been mailing checks to those who have surrendered the stamps, where the amount is under $10. In case the stamps were more than $10, they were sent to Indianapolis, and the money returned to the local postoffice to be mailed out from here.

Many of the people, wishing to continue with their savings, have instructed the local officials to issue them the new treasury bonds, which come in denominations as low as $5.00, and which will mature in five years. The $100 notes are now selling at $82.

Mr. Brown will make a report of the amount of money handled in the war savings stamps, when all of the 1918 issue has been cashed or converted.

MUCH DISCUSSION ON GASOLINE TAX

Included In One Of The Measures
Which Will Be Considered By
The Indiana Legislature

2-CENTS A GALLON PROPOSED

Believed Tax Bill Will Meet With Considerable Opposition and Doubt
Is Expressed If It Is Passed

One of the measures which will be considered by the Indiana legislature which is meeting in biennial session beginning Thursday that is of interest to hundreds of people in Rushville and Rush county is that which would require the collection of a 2-cent tax on every gallon of gasoline that is sold in the state. The proposed gasoline tax has resulted in much discussion here and the majority of people seem to be strongly opposed to it.

Governor McCray and other state officers who are in favor of the proposed tax estimate that it would bring in about $3,000,000 a year. It is proposed that this revenue be turned over to the state highway commission for the improvement of public highways.

Those in favor of the law point out that people from other states motor over Indiana roads and pay nothing for their upkeep. Such a tax on gasoline, it is pointed out, would result in them paying a small amount, which would eventually be turned back into the highway fund. The wear and tear on Indiana highways by trucks is especially costly and it is said quite a large number of trucks from other states operate in Indiana. Such trucks do not pay any license in Indiana and are without any expense, except the purchase of gasoline while in Indiana. Supporters of the gasoline tax law contend that a revenue of 2 cents a gallon would be collected from out-of-state owners who operate their machines in Indiana.

Local distributors are opposed to difficulty they would encounter in collecting it. To employ a large number of collectors would be expensive and the salaries would represent a large part of the amount actually paid. It is said that one plan is under consideration whereby the state oil inspectors would collect this tax at a comparatively small cost. Distributors, however, say that if they were required to pay tax on gasoline at the time it is received a considerable amount of money would be tied up before the gasoline is sold.

One provision of the proposed law provides that no tax would be placed on gasoline used by farmers for the operation of tractors and stationary engines. It pointed out that there would be difficulty in determining just what gasoline would be tax free. If a distributor paid the tax upon a car at the time it was received and later sold some of it for use in tractors he would be entitled to a rebate and at once difficulty is seen in keeping an accurate record.

BUSINESS FIRMS MAKE INVENTORIES

Downtown Stores And Business
Houses Of Various Kinds Engag-
ed In Listing Stock On Hand

SOME CHECK UP MONTHLY

Some Few Firms Take Inventories
At Times Other Than First Of
Year When More Convenient

The annual inventory season is on in Rushville.

Downtown stores and business houses of various kinds have been busily engaged in listing the stock on hand and at the same time exchanging Christmas presents and carrying on the usual business. Few if any of the downtown places of business close while taking inventories.

The custom of taking inventory seems to be more prevalent in Rushville this year than ever before and firms of the smaller class are taking their inventories with just as much care and efficiency as the large business organizations of the city, according to those who sell inventory supplies.

A few firms in Rushville have their business so organized that no annual inventories are taken. Some operate on the perpetual inventory plan and others take short inventories each month instead of the usual long inventory at the end of the calendar year. Some few firms take inventory at times other than the first of the calendar year, listing their stock at a time convenient to their fiscal years.

Regardless of when or how inventories are taken, by far the great majority of firms in Rushville follow this plan in doing their business and the number, who are of the old school, the kind who run from year to year without actually knowing how much stock or material they have on hand, are coming to be more and more in the minority.

So popular is the inventory plan at the beginning of the new year that some professional men, physicians, are said to take inventories of their medicines on hand.

Hit The Ball

The festivities are over, and now another year of work is before us. Let's hit the ball, before it hits us.

It was a Merry Christmas, anyway, and a Happy New Year—as usual.

Prosperity comes to those who earnestly and diligently and intelligently seek it—unless it is left by a rich dad who conveniently fades away.

It is greater prosperity that we want in this community, and in the state and nation.

Let's go after it, and stick until we get it, and hang onto it after it comes.

Talking is sometimes good, because it puts us in the right shape of mind.

But work is better, because it enables us to accomplish definite and desirable results.

Therefore, let's do both—talk and work—in 1923.

It's the sure road to prosperity. And while we are engaged in be-guiling prosperity, let's also endeavor to promote harmony.

If the doors are open harmony will always seek admittance. It doesn't like to wander around without a home—and its home is in the head and heart.

Harmony will do wonderful things for us in the run of a year.

And along with harmony comes good fellowship—its twin brother.

Good fellowship promotes harmony, and harmony promotes good fellowship, and when the two pull together it is difficult to resist or check them.

By all means let us have good fellowship, too.

But that isn't all.

Harmony and good fellowship promote kindness, and generosity, and thoughtfulness, and consideration, and a willingness to do for others as well as for self.

That, also, is good—very good.

The fellow who lives for self alone doesn't really live. He only afflicts us with his presence for a time.

But when we perform a kindly act for others it leaves a warm glow in

Safety Sam's Sermonette

Now that all o' this holiday hullabaloo has blown over an things are kinda settlin' down t' normal, with most of us slippin' back into th' old habits that we swore off on New Year's, it wouldn't be such a bad plan t' pause, so t' speak, an' size things up, with th' object o' tryin' t' live long enough at least t' pay somethin' on th' bills that are beginnin' to come in.

Fast as things change these days, theys some conditions exist in that we've had t' contend with so long that we oughta know how t' ease ourselves by 'em now, without sufferin' any worse damage than gettin' all splashed with mud or losin' a fender. We've got streets that we want t' walk across, an' it's a ten-to-one bet that we'll hafta step out from behind a machine standin' at th' curb an' that they'll be another machine comin' from our left at a speed of anyway two miles an hour; further, that th' driver'll be so busy lookin' for a place t' park that he won't know of our presence till he looks back t' see if he run over somethin'. We've got tracks that cars an' trains still run over, thanks t' Hardin' prosperity, an' it's anyhow an even bet that one of 'em will appear in th' offing, any time we take a chance that it won't, as we slip our way across its path. It's better'n an even bet that we'd oughta be in shape t' stop in that case, fer in all contests of right o' way between trains or even street cars an' autos, it's "heads I win an' tails you lose" fer th' gas buggy; an' that's one o' th' things besides explosions that makes gasoline still more deadly than th' stuff that killed about forty people Christmas Day!

the region of the heart—that heart that should never grow cold.

We must have all of these, too.

In fact, there are many things we might have and do in this community in 1923—things that work for improvement, and prosperity, and sociability.

In passing, we might suggest that 1923 will be better if made, instead of being marred.

Making a community is not difficult. It only requires intelligence and a will to accomplish.

Marring a community is even less difficult. In fact, it is not difficult at all. It only requires that spirit of indifference that is so often found where it should not be.

From The Provinces

Anyway, We Haven't That Kind (Houston Post)

It would be awful if everything were perfectly satisfactory to everybody. A world with nothing to kick and roar about would simply be unendurable.

Works Well With Charlie (Ohio State Journal)

We sometimes think Charles W. Morse's recipe for longevity must be to have an incurable disease and get a good lawyer to look after it for you.

We Treat 'Em Like a Stepchild (Pittsburg Gazette Times)

Chief Justice of the Ohio Supreme Court says the United States is a law-fiddin' nation. Why worry? We don't obey many of them.

They're Not Worth the Two Cents (Boston Transcript)

The Kaiser's Memoirs are selling at 10,000 marks in Berlin, which seems to be several thousand even of marks more than they are worth.

Still the Consuls Are Lucky (Detroit Free Press)

It is announced that the Soviet Government will order all American Consuls out of Siberia, and still they say they want American trade.

Aha! the Biter is Bitten (Philadelphia Record)

Keller started out to hunt Daugherty, and now they are hunting Keller.

Maybe It's Our Dry Navy (Pittsburg Dispatch)

South America reports a strange war fleet. Perhaps the Swiss navy.

A Pleasant Time Was Had (Pittsburg Dispatch)

Clemenceau came and saw and went back.

Congress Never Thought of That (Cleveland Commercial)

We have a shipping bill now—the bill we pay for not having any ships.

Whaddya Make of This? (Louisville Courier-Journal)

The saloon was "the poor man's club" before prohibition, and in these days of soft-drink stands club life attracts many who care nothing for pop.

Unlucky For Something (Pittsburg Dispatch)

Was there any significance in the fact that there were just 13 dry Governors at the White House?

It's a Hard Life, Fellers (Baltimore Sun)

History of man: 20 to 30 hard-ship; 30 to 40; hard-boiled; 50 to 70, hard arteries.

"Ladies First" Is Their Motto (Nashville Tennessean)

Americans are ready to disarm, provided their wives will do it first.

The Hodge-Podge

By a Paragrapher with a Saut

Sympathy often leads us astray.

Beware of the fellow who wants to sell you a get-rich-quick scheme.

A hunting coat doesn't make a hunter and a law book doesn't make a lawyer.

Keep your New Year's resolutions, and don't adopt some substitutions.

It's a waste of perfectly good money for a man with a talkative wife to buy a phonograph.

Keep the coal mines working and the home fires will do their own burning.

Don't envy the man who knows more than you do because he may know a lot that he would like to forget.

Some folks keep their thoughts on themselves for fear of losing them.

High School Basket Men Defeat Cathedral High School in Indianapolis, 22 to 19

FIRST HALF WAS 13 TO 10

Rushville Exhibits Better Passing and Team Work and Stops Opponents' Rally

The Rushville high school basketball team, maintained a lead from the very start in the contest Friday night at Indianapolis and defeated the Cathedral high school by a three point margin, 22 to 19. The first half ended with the locals in the lead three points, 13 to 10.

Rushville displayed better passing and team work than in any recent game, and after getting started in the game last night, they managed to keep in the lead, although toward the end of the contest, the Cathedral team staged a rally, and for a time threatened to do damage.

Walker scored first by throwing a field goal from near the foul line. Kelly for Cathedral counted on a foul and Phillips also made the next point on a foul for Rushville.

The two teams were putting up a hard fought game, and appeared to be evenly matched, although the local aggregation outplayed them in passing the ball. Both teams missed many shots at the basket. Newbold for the locals got a short shot from the side, and two more points were counted for Rushville, putting the score 5 to 1.

Royce for Cathedral made his team's first field goal from a long shot, and soon Hilligoss matched the goal with one from under the basket, putting the count 7 to 3, with Rushville in the lead.

The next scoring was a foul goal by Cathedral, but Walker again counted from the field for Rushville, and the local team was still in the front, 9 to 4, giving the appearance that the locals were going to walk away from their opponents.

Cathedral, however, took a spurt at this turn in the contest, and they counted two field goals, which gave them great hope, boosting their count to 8, with Rushville at 9.

Phillips then stood out for the locals, and made good two chances on fouls, and soon afterwards he made a field goal on a toss-in from the side line, making the count 13 to 8. Before the half ended, Kelly again scored for the Cathedral team, making the score 13 to 10 at the halfway mark.

The locals started off fast in the last period, and the score began to mount, and at the end of the first ten minutes of play the score stood 11 to 11, with Cathedral trailing.

The Indianapolis team made several changes in their line-up at this time, including O'Connor, who went in at center, and who was spoken of highly in an Indianapolis paper, as returning to school and demonstrating what he could do with long shots. This ace soon shot in a couple of goals from the center and when only three minutes remained, the score stood 20 to 19, and the locals began to stall for time.

The stalling game worked good, although Cathedral got possession of the ball once, and missed an open shot. Just before the whistle Phillips broke through the center for a field goal, and he was given a chance at a foul when the whistle blew, but missed, and the locals won the contest, 22 to 19.

The game was played in the Manual Training high school gymnasium, and a good sized crowd was present. Good sportsmanship was displayed throughout the game.

The line-up and summary:—

AMUSEMENTS

The mystery of the Romanoff diamonds, that wonderful collection of precious gems owned by the late Czar of Russia, has never been satisfactorily solved, but every now and then they turn up in the news. Recently a cable dispatch from Belgium announced that the custom authorities had seized a famous emerald, surrounded by twenty diamonds, which formerly belonged to the great Romanoff collection. It is on a similar instance of attempted smuggling into America of the Romanoff diamonds that Jack Boyle founded his famous "Boston Blackie" story, "The Face in the Fog."

The disappearance of the Grand Duchess Tatiana, youngest and favorite daughter of the late Czar, is also another mystery that has never been solved. Accounts agree that she did not submit tamely to the fate of the rest of the royal family, but made her escape in disguise of a peasant girl. Some declare that she was overtaken and murdered by the "Reds," while others insist that she got away, and there was a rumor that she reached the United States in safety, and has since lived here incognito.

Mr. Boyle's ingenious solution of this twin mystery make the fate of the last of the Romanoffs and the crown jewels which were the last relic of royalty rest upon the skill and cleverness of the reformed American crook "Blackie" Dawson. Miss Joy Marshall, former star of "Irene" and her Society Seven band, will be the attraction at the Princess Monday and Tuesday, in addition to the regular picture program.

HUSTON STILL HALF
OWNER OF YANKEES

Recently Announced That He Had Sold His Half Of The Team To Colonel Jacob Ruppert

SUDDEN CHANGE IS MYSTERY

By JACK N. V. SCHOLZ
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, Jan. 6.—Col Huston is still half owner of the Yankees. After jolting the baseball world with the recent announcement that he had sold his half of the team to Colonel Jacob Ruppert, he exploded an even greater bomb with the surprising statement that he was still very much in the running and going strong.

The reason for this sudden reversal of difficulties is more or less shrouded in mystery. Huston admits that after the first deal had been gone over, certain points rose on points Ruppert was unable to agree on and as they could arrive at no satisfactory arrangement, they both decided the best thing for all concerned would be for Huston to take off his coat and stay a while longer. And now that he is still on the inside looking out, Huston admits that it's a right comfortable feeling.

Huston denied that his intention to remain in baseball had been influenced in any way by Ban Johnson or any of the latter's friends, declaring he would not stay in the game merely for the privilege of fighting with Johnson.

Chicago.—Outfielder Turner Barber, of the Cubs will wear a Brooklyn uniform next year. He was released in exchange for Outfielder Hood who will report to Los Angeles as part of the deal which gave the Cubs Pitcher Dumovich.

100 WAYS
To Make Money

If I Could Make Keys—

I LOST my door key one time and had to perform the second-story act. Worst of it was, I didn't know where to get a new key made. Come to find out, after a good deal of worry, there was a man in my neighborhood who made keys. But I didn't know he was there when I wanted a key made.

Now if I could make keys I would see that people knew about it. Thousands of keys are lost during a year, and I would make money by supplying new ones for some of them.

I would insert a Want Ad in The Daily Republican saying that I made keys. When a person lost a key he then would come to me for a new one.

PRINCE IS ENGAGED TO LADY ELIZABETH

Daily News Describes Prince of Wales' Choice As Daughter Of One Of Oldest Peers of Scotland

FRIEND OF PRINCESS MARY

By CHARLES M. MCCANN (U. P. Staff Correspondent)
London, Jan. 6.—All the British empire are thrilled with the report today that the Prince of Wales' engagement to Lady Elizabeth Doves-Lyon, daughter of a Scotch nobleman, will be announced this spring. The Daily News, which two days ago stated that the Prince would marry an Italian princess, apparently succeeded in evoking not only an official denial but an authoritative tip on the real choice for future queen. Today the News describes the prince's choice as a young, Scottish noble woman, daughter of one of the oldest peers of Scotland, a very close friend of Princess Mary, a popular society girl and one who has been constantly with the Princess. This fits Lady Elizabeth to a T.

To make its point plainer, the News describes the ancestral estates of the Earl, her father.

Claims Castle, scene of the murder of King Duncan in "MacBeth" is the county seat of the Earl of Strathmore and Queen Mary, Princess, Mary and the Duke of York were shown about the famous ghost ridden halls by Lady Elizabeth when they visited there in the fall of 1921.

The News carries a character sketch of Lady Elizabeth in a column adjoining its editorial on the subject.

The prospective bride is 22, the prince 28. She is a sports woman who rides and hunts.

Extremely popular in court society Lady Elizabeth was one of the bridesmaids at Princess Mary's wedding. At that time her engagement to the prince was rumored. Later she was reported engaged to the Duke of York, the Prince's brother.

TO DETERMINE WHAT HAS BECOME OF MONEY

Between $3,500 And $5,000 In War
Chest Community Fund Of Brazil
Never Accounted For

LEGION TO INVESTIGATE

Brazil, Ind., Jan. 6.—Brazil post No. 2, American Legion has inaugurated an investigation to determine what has become of a sum of money estimated at between $3,500 and $5,000 in the War Chest Community fund which it is claimed has never been accounted for.

The courts have held several cases that all funds left in War Chest community treasuries belong to the American Legion and in many instances the money has been paid over.

In Clay county nothing has been heard of this money since the war suddenly closed Nov. 11, 1918. The last drive for war relief funds was made in 1918 and in October 1918, $34,000 which had been raised by the county by taxation was paid over to the various charities. The sum turned over to the War Chest Community fund is said to have been between $3,500 and $5,000. No one appears to know exactly how much money there was in this fund or what has become of it. Whoever had charge of the fund has failed to make any report of it, but the American Legion has determined to ferret out the whereabouts of the money and demand at least an explanation from the party responsible for sequestering it.
